

ABSTRACT

A cosmetic is provided that contains a powder that exhibits a shininess characteristic of a metal film and yet is not prone to leaching out of metal ions, whereby the cosmetic is not prone to causing discoloration or degeneration, and is not prone to bringing about a metal allergy. The powder contained in the cosmetic is comprised of a base material, and a metal film and a metal oxide film formed in this order on the base material.